Puppy Play

Socialisation is a key element to every dog's life. If started at puppy stage, socialisation has many benefits to help their growth into a mature, happy, well balanced social dog.

Socialising your pup is more than just fun play time with their furry friends. It can help develop their confidence in many ways. Socialisation can help a pup learn and develop healthy dog behaviours as well as help your pup ease into new situations and surroundings.

Giving your pup the chance to learn and grow through socialisation will help with desensitising them in unknown environments so they will react to the world in a healthy and positive manner.

NPR's doggy daycare is one way that can help in a controlled and caring environment. Our dedicated Canine

School Uniform

As part of the Uniform here at NPR we ask all fur kiddies to come with their collars on. This is to ensure the safety of your fur baby as well as our staff. Thank you!

Carers can give your pup the guidance in their early stages of socialisation. Giving them the opportunity to learn healthy social habits with other pooches in our structured play times. This gives your pup the chance to run around and have new experiences while learning along the way.

Apple Oat treat!

Here is a simple fun recipe for a doggy treat!

INGREDIENTS

- 1/2 cup sliced apples
- 1/2 cup peanut butter (sugar and xylitol free)
- 2 cups of old-fashioned rolled oats

DIRECTIONS

- 1 Peel, slice, cook and mash the apple.
 - 2 Combine apple, peanut butter and oats.
 - 3 Roll into small balls.
 - 4 Bake at 350° for 15 minutes.
- Leave to cool and treat your pooch!

Our loveable furry friends who have recently passed over to the rainbow heavens

Sadly over the last few months, we at NPR have had to say goodbye to some of our furry friends that have recently passed over to the rainbow heavens to continue their playful and happy journeys.

We would like to send our warmest condolences to all the family members of these very special loved ones who will be missed, but will always hold a special place in our hearts.
